

John Wilton

Business Consultant, Northeastern Ohio

With more than 15 years of experience in the Ohio workers' compensation system, including an extensive history spent working with a third-party administrator, John's extensive background provides him with an understanding of employer issues and challenges faced by BWC customers. With this perspective, John can customize solutions and tailor them for each specific situation.

John's duties as a business consultant include working with employers in northeastern Ohio to implement proven risk management strategies through various cost control programs.

When working with the third-party administrator, John had a well-rounded experience as a claims examiner, hearing representative and client services. For the past 10 years, John worked in senior management in the client services department with the focus on employer education and client retention for the company.

John earned his Bachelor of Arts Degree from Kent State University with a focus on History and a minor in paralegal studies. After graduation, John began his career working as a private investigator with a focus on potentially fraudulent workers' compensation claims. John's experience working with employers to assist them with controlling claims cost and educating them on various programs that can help Ohio employers.

John lives in Avon Lake, Ohio with his wife, son and daughter.
