

Timothy McDermott, CWCC, CPM, ARM

Business Consultant, Southern Ohio

Tim has more than 30 years of experience assisting employers in the private and public sector. His background includes 25 years with BWC and five years in private insurance providing risk management and business consultation services to employers in the tri-state area. He's been recognized for his expertise and excellent customer service. His diverse career also includes 15 years as a small business owner-operator and 18 years as a business technology instructor at Cincinnati State Technical and Community College. Tim has been a guest speaker for several civic/professional organizations, colleges and universities throughout the region.

As a business consultant, Tim's duties include working with employers to implement proven risk-management strategies through various BWC cost-control programs. He also partners with associations and trade groups to share updates and bring industry feedback to BWC executive management while focusing on growth and retention of business in Ohio.

Tim earned his Bachelor of Arts in Labor Studies and Education from the National Labor College in Silver Springs, Md., and is working on his Masters in Public Administration. In addition, he has earned professional certifications in workers' compensation, risk management, project management and public management.

Tim and his wife, Cathy, reside in Anderson Township. They have three sons, one daughter and four grandsons.
