

Mark Clendenin

Regional Business Development Manager

Mark Clendenin is the regional business development manager for Northeastern Ohio. He serves as an ambassador for Administrator/CEO Sarah Morrison. He works with employers that could substantially benefit from BWC's safety and claims-management services.

Mark has more than 25 years of experience in both the public and private sectors. His background encompasses nearly every aspect of the industry, including risk management, public and private accounting, manufacturing, construction, financial services, and teaching. Some of the companies that he has worked with include Nationwide Insurance, Coopers and Lybrand, Sterling Jewelers, The Home Depot and Lincoln Financial Group.

He has been a guest speaker throughout Northeast Ohio to groups that include The Ohio Society of CPAs, The Ohio Mayor's Conference, Rotary International, Chamber of Commerce, area Safety Councils, The Ohio Safety Congress & Expo, and other civic and professional organizations. Mark is an active member in a number of organizations, including The Rotary Club of Jackson Township, Jackson Belden Chamber of Commerce, Habitat for Humanity, and the Walsh University Alumni Board. He also maintains involvement in numerous other civic organizations.

Mark holds a Bachelor of Arts in Accounting from Walsh University in North Canton, Ohio. Once chided early in his career for not understanding how business works, Mark had made it his mission to "understand how business works" and he works passionately through collaboration with decision makers to identify workable solutions to business concerns.
